I come from an area where kids have limited access to the seeing computers before even having a chance to touch and work on them. I grew up like most of these kids and it has been my wish to set up something that could enhance quick learning among kids in the community. The labtop project from Labdoo will be a great opportunity for me to achieve this dream. We will not have a teacher in class teaching computer skills to kids by drawing on the board what a computer is but this time with your help kids will be able to learn while sitting on computers. We have a model where we have nominated school ambassadors who work with NoKidBehind in mentoring kids and also teachers at the school. We are going to set up a classroom and create a lab for the kids to use these laptops and learn. Creating a conducive study environment for the kids.
